

How to Start a Troop Without Ending up Broke

LEADER SUPPLIES

Leader's Guide

Handbook

Try-it book

Safety-wise (1/troop provided)

Storage box (bought, or photocopy paper box, or a wheeled suitcase you have). Some leaders use a wheeled luggage cart if they have them or can get them Sharpies (multiple colors, if possible) Big scissors Tissues / Kleenex First Aid kit - see below on how to stock

INCOME

Start up grant from Service unit, if available Dues (decided by girls, often based on cost of Try-Its and patches) Start up fee from parents: This should cover the first batch of pins, patches, etc

SUPPLIES

Look in your own cupboard. If you buy new crayons each year, you may have a lot of boxes sitting around!

Watch garage sales and thrift stores for supplies. Don't be afraid to mention at a garage sale that it is for a Girl Scout troop - some people will give discounts. Be ingenious - leaders have used one of those beaded car seat covers as source material (For example - knotty people swap - <http://www.reocities.com/EnchantedForest/9092/knotpeop.html>)

PAPER/PHOTOCOPIES

Ask parents for old office letterhead, and use the back. Great for drawing, paper airplanes, and such.

Some companies will let employees use the printer/copier for the cost of paper, or for free as community service. See if one of your parents can do this.

GIRL SUPPLIES

1. Have each girl bring in her own supplies in their own box, or buy a box of zippered bags and each girl gets her own bag.

Have them contain:

scissors,

crayons, markers, and a pencil

glue or glue sticks,

paint set (?)

2. Ask parents for donations of excess craft materials, then base the crafts on what is available.

3. If a try-it calls for something special, have each girl bring that item in (i.e. Oatmeal container for Space Explorer, shoebox for Me & My Shadow)

4. Ask parents to save things - we ask parents to save certain items for future use (i.e. the tabs off Kool-Aid bursts for SWAPS, Snack-to-Go containers for when we make trail mix later this year, old letterhead)

5. Divide the girls into smaller groups - one per supervising adult. If one group cuts while another glues, then you need half the number of scissors and glue sticks.

6. Borrow what you can! Both parents and other leaders might help.

JULIETTE LOW BIRTHDAY PARTY OR TROOP SHOWER

Our parents donated items for our Juliette Lowe birthday party. Each girl brought in a wrapped item that could be used for crafts or our first aid kit. I provided a list of suggested items and the girls enjoyed opening the gifts for our troop.

A game can be made of the unwrapping:

Each girl held her wrapped gift and we started the "Left/Right" story and passed gifts this way. When the story was done, each girl was holding a different gift and got to open "her" present. What wasn't supplied for the first aid kit, I got the hospital to donate supplies.

An example of the story is at <http://www.reocities.com/Heartland/Plains/1132/stories.html>

Have a Troop Scavenger Hunt for supplies. An example follows. ("Prizes" can be simple things like stickers and such.)

Around the World

Colors and Shapes (with stuff from around the house) Girl Scout Ways - Old vinyl tablecloths and shower curtains can be used to make Sit-upons. Newspaper, plastic grocery bags, or remnants of carpet padding can stuff them.

Girl Sports - I made the beanbags out of material and rice and we used a soccer ball instead of balloons. Another troop used borrowed beanie babies for the bean bag toss.

GS Through the Years - Root beer floats (cheap ice cream, cheap root beer) Let's Pretend Movers, if you have access to old letterhead or other scrap paper.

Playing Around the World

Senses - I used salt and sugar from my house. Pickle juice (and then ate the pickles later) and grapefruit juice. My co-leader brought items to smell, and I brought in the items to feel. We made the paper items which I printed and also had the girls make a yarn picture of their name and then feel it.

Sounds of Music (with supplies found around the house)

CHEAP GS ACTIVITIES

Sing songs, practice the flag ceremony (some service units and the council have flags they can loan).

Some of these can also be service projects, like when we went to the fire station, we planted flowers for them and they loved it and even joined us for snack!

What about volunteering time with an animal shelter, soup kitchen, meals on wheels, at a nursing home or working at the council camps (if you have any)?

I have scheduled one meeting to just go to the playground, eat a sack dinner and PLAY! Girls had a great time. When the weather gets nicer, we get outside our meeting place and practice putting up, taking down, (not losing parts) and putting away our troop tents so the girls are ready for tent camping during the Summer. I usually have my wonderful Senior Scout advisor lead this! We all enjoy the opportunity to be outside. (we are a Junior troop so this is usually a new skill for first year girls).
